Review Captures All-American

By BARB BECKER

The Rhodes Review was again presented the All-American honor rating for the spring semester of 1965-66. National Scholastic Press Association All-American Newspaper Critical Service judged the entries.

Perfect scores were attained in five categories of criteria. These included creativeness, news stories, copyreading, editorial page features, and front page make-up.

Out of five possible ratings, the All-American is the highest possible followed by First, Second, Third, and Fourth Class. A paper must receive a score of 3700 points for an All-American.

"I will try to uphold the excellent standards the editors before me have shown," states Craig Mueller, editor.

Business, Industrial Arts Departments Utilize Modern, Expensive Equipment

By JEFF GILAR

Students are now able to more fully pursue their business and industrial arts career training due to the new office and shop machines acquired by Rhodes from the Federal government.

Business Education Benefits

"Because of this new office equipment we are now able to have 51 classes in Business Education from which students will greatly benefit," informed Mr. Ellsworth Holden, head of the Business Education Department. The equipment, valued at approximately $60,000.00, is a great help to students who wish to pursue a career in an office or in business.

"Prior to the acquisition of these machines, students practiced on outdated equipment and consequently were not fully prepared for today's modern offices," states Mr. Holden.

Modern Machines Installed

The new equipment which includes five rotary calculators, four key punch simulators, four printing calculators, five bookkeeping machines, and five transcript machines, is highlighted by a VariTyper which is valued at about $3,000. Specially designed bookkeeping tables have arrived along with a number of adding machines.

Many new typewriters have made it possible to hold special classes in a typing lab room. The Business Department is also hoping for a special shorthand laboratory.

A great advantage of the modern machines is that students are trained on the same type of equipment with which they will probably be working after graduation. Because of the increase in the amount of equipment, student classes can meet all day and may be geared to office work. By the time a student graduates, he can be fairly well trained in office technique and practice.

Federal Funds Used

"The remodeling of our shops and the installation of new equipment is expected to be completed in the next week or two," informs Mr. Harry Herrmann, head of the Industrial Arts Department. All of the industrial arts shops are being remodeled at government expense and all new equipment is being installed.

In the wood shop, the new equipment includes a table saw, an over arm saw, and a portable saw. The floor in the metal shop is to be all concrete as the welding classes will be held there. New equipment installed in the metal shops for welding includes six welding booths, three arc booths and three gas booths.

Mr. Herrmann Pleased

"We are very pleased with this new equipment and hope that our boys can benefit from it," comments Mr. Herrmann.

MR. HARRY HERRMANN, INDUSTRIAL ARTS Department head, explains the operation of one of the new machine shop lathes to Fletcher Conley, and Dale Slowinski, 11B.

Applications Available Now

NROTC Examination Set for Dec. 10

Applications for the Navy's twenty-first annual Regular NROTC qualification test are now available according to Miss Annabelle Whalen, counselor. This nationwide examination will be given on December 10, 1966, and all eligible male high school seniors and graduates may apply.

Over 1,700 young men will enter the Regular NROTC Program as midshipmen at NROTC units in 52 colleges and universities throughout the nation. Male citizens of the United States who will be at least 17 but not yet 21 on June 30, 1967, and who are now high school seniors or graduates, may be eligible to apply for the test. Those who attain qualifying scores will be interviewed and given medical examinations next January and February.

A successful candidate receives financial aid for four years of college. This includes tuition and educational fees, books, uniforms, and $50.00 per month subsistence allowance. After successfully completing baccalaureate degree requirements and naval training, graduates are commissioned as officers in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps.

Registrations for the test will close November 18, 1966.

Miss Hine Is New Administrator, Replaces Retired Miss Palmer

By CHRIS FIGULI

"It's great!" exclaims our new assistant principal, Miss Marjorie Hine, commenting on her new job at Rhodes. "I like young people," she adds, "and after having been here a few weeks, I shall continue feeling the same."

Miss Hine is replacing Miss Helen Palmer, retired assistant principal. Already she has fallen into the groove of things, and is pleased with the smooth start of school this year, and "the manner in which everyone is buckling down."

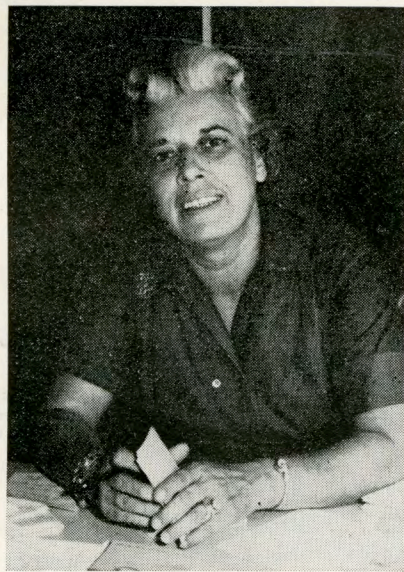

Busy as a bee, the new assistant principal also works as sponsor of the City-Wide Student Council downtown. In the past, she has taught physical education and social studies at various high schools.

In the midst of all her activities Miss Hine finds time to devote to her favorite hobbies — golf, bowling, badminton, and camping. During the summer she journeyed to the western part of the United States for a six-week-long camping trip.

The avid sports enthusiast also belongs to a rifle club "just for fun."

At present Miss Hine is learning the technique of rifle and pistol shooting.

Miss Hine was educated at Kent State and Western Reserve Universities. Her first teaching job was at a high school in Wellsville, Ohio, and from there she moved to Cleveland where she taught at Thomas Jefferson, Collinwood, and Newton D. Baker. Before Miss Hine came to Rhodes, she served as assistant principal at Thomas Jefferson.

She is happy to be at Rhodes, and says, "I like the enthusiasm of the faculty members here, especially all the new teachers who share an equal amount of spirit. Also, I must mention that the neat and attractive appearance of Rhodes students impresses me a great deal."

Enrollment Reaches 1503

The new 10B's numbering 422, boosted the enrollment of Rhodes this semester to 1503, including Mr. Varney's special class of 10 students in 122. There are 729 boys and 774 girls enrolled.

College Representatives

Representatives from three colleges will visit Rhodes to give students a broader and better understanding of their college. The colleges are the University of Pittsburgh, October 6; Ohio Wesleyan University, October 10; and Elmhurst College, October 12.

A Serious Issue

THE PROS AND CONS of high school students and drinking could fill a countless number of pages.

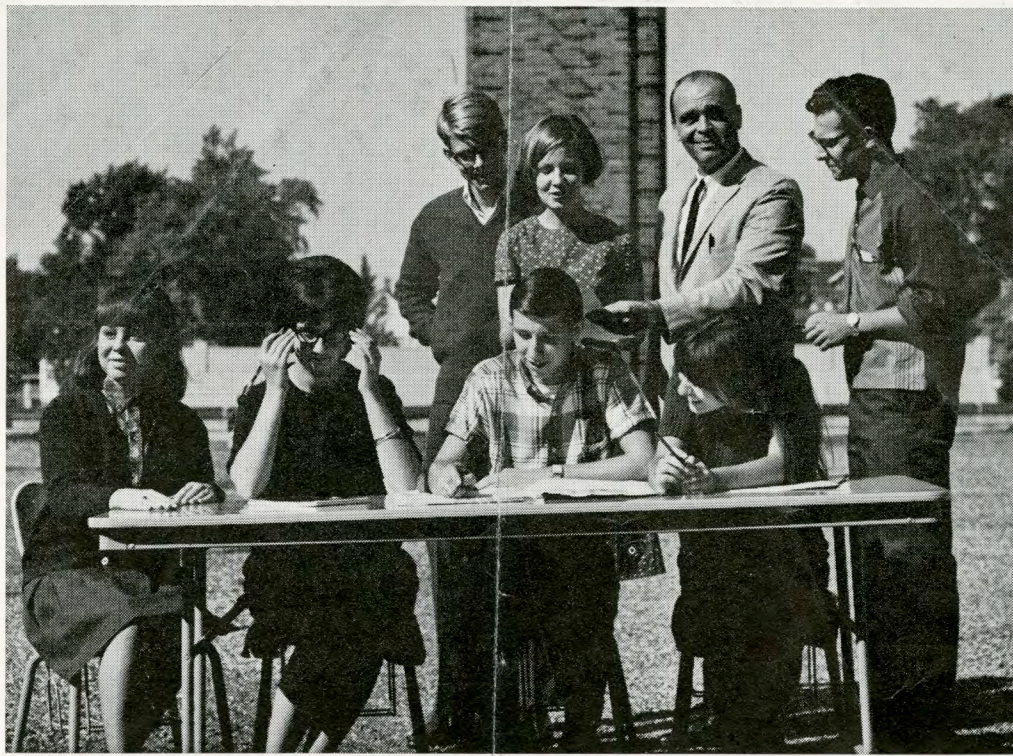

The time is here for school administrations, teaching staffs, and parents to realize that there is a considerable amount of drinking taking place in the world of the teen today.

Fingers are always pointed at the teenager who gets in trouble. But if alcohol is involved the opposition sentiment is always at a higher degree.

Everyone is aware of the ill effects of alcohol. Among other things, it dulls the brain, weakens the kidneys and affects the heart. Alcohol is responsible for many auto accidents.

A fact that strikes close to home is that alcohol was one of the factors that caused the death this past summer of one of Rhodes High's top students.

These are just some of the facts. Now, a more realistic approach must be taken by both parents and students. The Review urges that families discuss this topic and take some action to curb or restrict the drinking their children do.

Thank You

EVERY SEMESTER Rhodes undergoes a change. Last year's seniors have been replaced by the new 10B's.

Besides the students there is a change in the faculty. Some teachers go to other schools and some retire.

Last June three faculty members retired. They include Miss Margaret Thieme, Mr. Francis Jacob, Assistant Principal Miss Helen Palmer.

Together these teachers represent 99 teaching years at Rhodes. Miss Palmer was a member of the original faculty and Miss Thieme and Mr. Jacob joined the staff soon after the school opened.

Throughout the years they have devoted much of their time and experience to many student and school projects.

In gratitude for the many years of service they have given Rhodes, the Rhodes Review would like to congratulate and say "thank you" to these teachers and wish them well in their well deserved leisure pursuits.

In Memoriam

The Review joins the student and faculty members in extending deepest sympathy to the family and friends of Eric Roesemann, Student Council President and top Rhodes scholar who died tragically June 23.

Students Sound Off

Dear Editor,

I feel our Rhodes marching band is entirely too small. When we march we look quite bad because of our size. It would be very nice to have those who can play an instrument join our band. Being so small not only reflects on the band but the entire school. Please Join.

Should Government Draft Female Citizens?

By HELEN POHLID

Because of the increasing concern about the draft, the question of women entering the war has been discussed often. "Should women be drafted?" was asked of some Rhodians.

Peter M. Yurchak, 12B—"No, I do not think women should be drafted. I doubt if it would be very practical. You can't discipline women. I don't think it would work."

Robert Ferrell, 12B—"If they want to they should be able to. They would be great morale builders."

Marc Amos, 10A—"I do believe in a draft for the female population of the United States, not for the front lines in Viet Nam, but if they want the front lines I won't object. They would be a great help in the offices, hospitals, and helping around war-torn cities."

Steve Perucco, 10A; Bill Guder, Chip neeni, 10B's—"Yes, if we have to go we want someone to be with us."

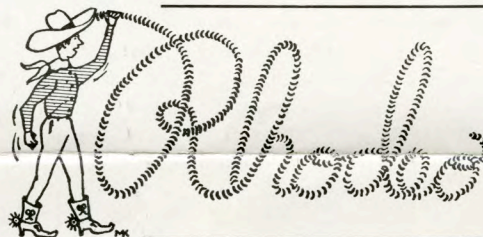

Mr. Anthony Hien, French Teacher—"If there is a need, yes, but I don't think there's a need for them. Besides, I don't like to see women in uniform."

Pat Young, 11B—"I would say yes, only as far as being able to help such as secretarial work, nursing, cooking, and teaching."

"I think that if they draft women that they should be mature and concerned with their special assigned duty only."

Sharon Kulik, 10A—"No, because I am entirely against war so that leaves out all people being drafted."

New Business Program, Vocational Sales Offered

By CAROL WEIDEMAN

Representing a major change in the curriculum this semester is the new Intensive Business and Office Education Program. Other changes include the addition of a vocational sales course for the eleventh grade and the scheduling of hard-of-hearing students within regular classes.

The Intensive Business Program offers training in accounting and stenography-typing to juniors and seniors. Classes meet all day and are geared to specific requirements for these occupations.

For instance, an introduction to data processing is combined with typing in the accounting occupations curriculum.

"These students will be much better prepared for a job in the office because of the work they will cover and the equipment they will use," states Mrs. Nicoletta Theodore, guidance counselor.

A new series of classes has been established for juniors, in order that they can prepare for Distributive Education. Included is a course in vocational sales.

Changes have also been introduced in the hard-of-hearing students curricula. This semester they have been scheduled for more regular classes, including foods, art, and typing. For the first time, many of the hard-of-hearing pupils are enrolled in regular academic courses, such as English and social studies.

"We are making an effort to give the hard-of-hearing students experiences in regular classes," comments Mr. J. J. Stillinger, principal.

Rhodians Receive College Credit

By RAE AROSON

Is the old saying that girls are smarter than boys really true? Several former Rhodians may have earned sophomore standing in one or more of their college courses as a result of the Advanced Placement Examinations given last May.

The examinations were graded five, meaning high honors; four, honors; three, creditable; two, passing; and one, failing. Students who earned a composite score of three or higher on the tests usually receive freshman college credit.

Two Receive 5's

Twenty-five of the twenty-six students who took the A. P. American History Test received a composite score of three or better. Walter Kobalka and Leah Otis scored fives; Erika Bittner, Theodore Blank, Nick Dobrinich, Sharon Dzik, Nancy Kelly, Lynne Miller, Margaret Rejdak, Judith Sawchak, Ronald Szudy, and Constance Wienczek received fours; and Frances Bohner, Peggy Egger, James Emery, Albert Hornyak, Judith Hoshek, Robert Hugo, Roger Kalbrunner, Daniel Kalynchuck, Gayle Prizner, Linda Stark, Kathleen Weideman, Cynthia Werle, and Mary Wilker scored threes.

Ten Score High

Of the twelve students who took the A. P. English Test, ten received a score of three or better. Nick Dobrinich, Peggy Egger, Judith Hoshek, Judith Sawchak, and Varley Wruck received threes. Albert Hornyak, Lynne Miller, and Leah Otis scored fours; and Walter Kobalka and Ronald Szudy scored fives.

Sophomores Lead As 41 Win Honors

In totaling the number of students who gained the recognition of having made the Honor Roll, it was found that the girls proved more capable of achieving the goal, thirty-one girls to ten boys.

Boyce Watkins was the only 12B who made it.

The sophomores led the school with the largest class representation of twenty-five. ## Guilty or Not Guilty

Teen Jurors Multiply Across Country

By GAYLE NEITHAMER

"Members of the jury, have you reached a verdict?" "Yes, your Honor, we have," announces the foreman.

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty. We recommend that his sentence be . . ."

This scene has been repeated countless times across the country. The only difference between this jury in Hot Springs, Arkansas, and any other jury is that the ages of the defendant and the jurors, range from 15 to 19.

When they reach a unanimous decision, the jurors return to the courtroom. If they find the defendant guilty, they also recommend the punishment.

Usually fines are not the punishment the jury suggests. In one case they recommended that a defendant convicted of speeding and reckless driving spend some time in a hospital emergency ward and make a speech before his student body about the dangers of speeding.

The defendant may accept the teenage jury's sentence, accept the court's punishment, or reject both and appeal to the court.

"We used to have 10 or 12 traffic cases a week, but now we go four weeks with about four or five cases," Judge Ridgway, Arkansas County Circuit Court judge states.

To serve on the jury, a teenager must be a student with passing grades, be between 15 and 19 years old, and possess a valid Arkansas driver's license. Parents must sign a consent slip.

If they wish, or if the defendant requests, he and the jury spend five minutes together in the chamber.

Teen juries began in Jacksonville, Florida, and have now spread to at least 48 other cities.

"I think there are four main benefits of the teen juries, Judge Ridgway explains, "The jury instills confidence in the teenagers, it educates them as to the judicial system, it rids them of the inherent adult fear of courts, and through all of these things, it makes a much better judicial system. It certainly makes them aware of the laws."

Faculty Members Retire, Plan Traveling, Relaxation

By GAYLE NEITHAMER

When the doors of Rhodes opened this fall, there were three faculty members whose faces were not seen in the halls.

The missing assistant principal is Miss Helen E. Palmer. The two teachers are Miss Margaret Thieme and Mr. Francis Jacob.

Miss Palmer Travels

Miss Palmer is a member of the original faculty. She taught here for 32 years. She left on a month's trip along the Mediterranean, September

"Some of the highlights of the trip will be visiting Rome and Naples. I am especially interested in this part of the world because I was once a Latin teacher," explains Miss Palmer.

She has no definite plans for when she returns to the United States. She may work at substitute teaching.

Thieme, Jacob Relax

Miss Thieme taught German at Rhodes for thirty-two years.

Before coming here she was a teacher at Thomas Jefferson for one year.

"I am going to visit relatives in New Hampshire this year," states Miss Thieme. "I was teaching at Western Reserve until August, so I have not had a chance to take a vacation."

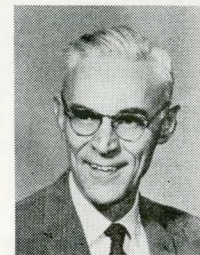

Miss Thieme

Mr. Francis Jacob is planning to visit his children in Cuyahoga Falls and in Baltimore, Maryland.

"I taught social studies for thirty-three years," comments Mr. Jacob. "Now that I'm retired, I am just going to take things easy."

Miss Leona Millard, whose picture is not shown, had planned to retire this year. However, she was asked to accept a supervisory position, temporarily at the Board of Education. Miss Millard served as Home Economics Head.

Gridders Out to Shoot Down South Flyers Tomorrow

Injury Ridden Distancemen to Compete At Annual St. Joseph Meet Tomorrow

By BOYCE WATKINS

Looking for their first win of the 1966 season the Ram cross country team will travel to Forest Hills Park tomorrow for the annual St. Joseph Relays.

IN THIS MEET there are two divisions, varsity and junior varsity, and seven runners from Rhodes will compete in each division. Last year the varsity harriers finished third and the junior varsity took second in the meet.

In their first three outings of the year the harriers were hurt by injuries to key runners Lynn Hoag, Jerry Jermann, Jerry Wilson, and Dick Strubbe.

In their first meet under the direction of new coach Mr. Steven Tekesky the distancemen were edged out by Parma 28-29.

UNTIL THIS meet the Rams were undefeated in dual, triangular, and quadrangular competition since 1963.

In this meet the harriers were led by Senior Bob Zola who captured second in the meet in 10:39. In junior varsity competition the younger runners swamped Parma 16-45. Sophomore Dave Kozyk, junior Mike Gruntkowski, senior Bob Baker, and junior Wayne Miller captured the first four places respectively in the race.

On September 20 the hill and dalers were downed by a strong John Marshall team by a score of 20-39. Captain Jim Blocksidge captured second place in this meet.

DUE TO KEY injuries the thin clads were beaten by Rocky River last Friday at Edgewater Park.

"I am surprised at the number of lettermen who didn't return to competition this season. The boys that have returned have done a good job and have been team leaders," remarks Coach Tekesky.

Coach Tekesky, a Rhodes January 1958 graduate, was a cross country and track star under former coach Ellworth Holden.

Rams Lose First Three Games, Await West Senate Competition

By JEFF FORTE

Determined to knock a dent in the crown of South High, last year's West Senate champs, the Rhodes Rams will meet the Flyers tomorrow, 7:30 p.m., at West Tech field.

THE TEMPINMEN suffered losses in their first three games with Marion Harding, September 9; Lakewood, September 16; and Parma, last Friday night.

"The team has really worked hard," states head coach Jim Templin, "but inexperience is the main handicap. We received only ten boys from last year's junior varsity."

In last Friday night's contest with Parma, the Redmen tallied a total of 26 points in the first half, and held the Rams scoreless. In the third quarter the Redmen scored first with a two-yard plunge by Ken Scabina. The two point conversion was good.

WITH 43 SECONDS left in the third quarter, Ram quarterback Lynn Maximuk, on a third down and six situation, fired a 6 yd. pass to fullback Ken Bania who fought his way 88 yards for the Ram's only TD. The two point conversion attempt was no good.

Two weeks ago the Rams traveled to Lakewood and were dropped by the Rangers 42-8. The Rams also were defeated in their first contest of the season, September 9, by Marion Harding 34-6.

Laderer, Mitchell Are Grid Coaches; Tekesky Holds Cross-Country Position

By TIM DEMBOWSKI

When an athlete from either the Varsity or Junior Varsity football team, or the cross-country team yells "Coach" this year, three new faces will turn around to answer the call. Mr. Mark Laderer, Mr. David Mitchell and Mr. Steve Tekesky have been added to the Rhodes coaching staff.

ASSISTING head J.V. football coach, Tom Ehlert, will be Mr. Mark Laderer. A June graduate of Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio, Mr. Laderer holds a degree in history and government. Here at Rhodes, he teaches American history, geography, and modern problems. Besides hitting the books at college, Coach Laderer also hit opposing team linemen. He played football as a defensive end and offensive guard.

"I believe the most important thing in teaching a boy how to play football," the assistant coach reveals, "is to teach him fundamentals, technique and execution!"

"THE VARSITY this year has the potential to be a good team," exclaims new assistant Varsity Coach, David Mitchell, "However, they must have the desire."

In between playing tackle and center while at college, Mr. Mitchell found enough time to receive two degrees. He received a Master of Science degree at West Virginia University and a Bachelor of Science degree at Defiance College, Defiance, Ohio.

Here at Rhodes, Mr. Mitchell teaches English. Previously he has taught at Lima, Wayne, and United High Schools in Ohio.

WHEN NOT at home with his wife, Coach Mitchell, being a true sportsman, enjoys hunting and fishing.

Mr. Steve Tekesky will be taking over the chores of last year's head cross-country and assistant track coach, Mr. Dick Emery. Coach Emery was transferred to John Adams.

"I try to express," states the new head coach, "the importance of individualism to a runner. Although cross country is a team sport, meets are won by the individual."

WHILE EARNING his Master of Arts at Miami University of Ohio ('62), Mr. Tekesky found time to be on the track and cross country team. His specialties were one, two, and four mile runs.

A wood and drafting teacher, Mr. Tekesky has taught at Miami University, Berea High School, and at a California high school.

He is married and has two boys ages three and five.

Undefeated J.V.'s To Face Lincoln

Aiming for their third straight victory, the Rhodes Junior Varsity will clash with the Lincoln Presidents on Thursday, October 6. Kickoff will be 4:00 p.m. at Rhodes Field.

Under the direction of new head coach Mr. Thomas Ehlert, the Junior Rams grounded the South High Flyers, 26-6 on Tuesday, September 20 at Tremont Field. Despite a strong wind and poor field conditions, the Rams did most of the damage on the ground and scored only once in the air.

John Marshall provided the opposition last Tuesday, as the Rams clipped the Lawyers 12-6 on the Rhodes field. The Rams scored early in the first quarter on a three yard run up the middle by Debow.

HEALTH CAREERS CORNER

HI, MY NAME'S MARY KAY... MY THEME: PICK A CAREER IN THE HEALTH FIELD FOR ACTION, OPPORTUNITIES, AND SATISFACTION... TODAY'S TOPIC: THE NURSING SCENE.

Do I have the nursing knack?

Do you like helping others? Can you handle the challenge of science courses? Does teamwork in an action-atmosphere appeal to you? If "yes" is your answer, then you've got the knack.

I've got the knack, now how do I get the R.N. know-how?

You need a 3-year diploma program OR a 4-year bachelor's degree program OR a 2-year associate degree program and passing scores on the state licensing exams. In greater Cleveland, 3 colleges and 9 hospital schools of nursing can give you this know-how. Your guidance counselor will help you select the registered nursing program right for you.

I don't have all that time!

Keep your cool! Become a Licensed Practical Nurse. A 1-year course and state licensure lead to the L.P.N. after your name. There are 6 schools of practical nursing in greater Cleveland.

Is there a place for a guy in nursing?

Yes. Hospitals consider themselves lucky to have male nurses among their staff . . . and they move up to supervisory positions fast.

Are there many job opportunities?

The word is shortage. More than 120,000 nurses are needed in the nation this year. Local hospitals alone have 600 vacancies for R.N.'s.

I'm interested! What do I do now?

See your guidance counselor. Determine the courses you should take to prepare for nursing school. If possible, join a Future Nurse Club.

See you soon,

Mary Kay
