NEOTA to Convene Nov. 3

By CHERI CARROS

Students will enjoy a one-day vacation while teachers attend the 98th Annual North Eastern Ohio Teachers Association meeting, to be held November 3.

The purpose of these meetings is to provide information on teaching techniques that would prove helpful to faculty members. The meetings involve numerous lectures concerning a variety of educational topics.

Friday, the general meeting will be held in the Cleveland Public Auditorium. Dr. Samuel J. Shepard, Jr., Assistant Superintendent of St. Louis Public Schools, will present a lecture on "Problems of Teaching in Urban Schools."

Pre-convention dinners will be held on November 2. A topic of discussion for one of these meetings is entitled "The School 'Push-Out'—Society's Second Chance" or "Education for All—Education for Each." The speaker will be Zelma George, Executive Director of the Cleveland Job Corps for Women.

Other addresses will include an illustrated lecture to be given by Mr. Jessop Smith, Vice President of the Aquarium of Niagara Falls. His address will be entitled "Expedition—Sacred Dolphin."

At a meeting intended specifically for retired teachers, an author and columnist, Norma Bixter, will address the audience in a lecture entitled "To Go and To Return."

Members of the Future Teachers of America club will serve as ushers for the convention.

A special talk with color slides about "How to Travel by Freighter" will be presented by Miss Mary Manning, a former French teacher at Rhodes. This lecture will be given at the Cleveland Public Library.

Future Teachers of America Club members, Ellen Bray, Anne Keefer, 11B's and Darlene Barack, Kathy Kopacka, and Gayle Neithamer, 12B's will serve as ushers for the convention. Dr. Louis J. Burkhart, superintendent of Rocky River public schools, will speak to the ushers at the Statler Hilton Hotel. His topic will be, "So You Want to be a Teacher."

Various Departmental Activities to Be Featured At Next Wednesday Night's Annual Open House

By JEFF FORTE

Parents interested in seeing what their sons and daughters do all day long are invited to the James Ford Rhodes Annual Open House, next Wednesday, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

"The purpose of the open house is to reveal to the parents the basic purpose of education, which is to prepare students to communicate into all walks of life," states Mr. Alfred Pompeani, Open House Committee Chairman.

According to Mr. Pompeani, this year's open house will be different. Parents will not follow their son's or daughter's schedule of classes as has been done in previous open houses. Instead, the parents will attend a meeting for the particular subject such as English or American history rather than a meeting for the student's specific class.

THE ONLY DEPARTMENT which will be broken down into the different classes is the Business Education Department. Meetings will be held for the various courses in this department such as typing, office machines, and bookkeeping.

After a ten-minute tour of the building, the parents will be attending meetings for the particular departments. From 8:30 to 8:35, greetings will be given to the parents from Principal John J. Stillinger.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria from 9:30 to 10 p.m. Also, a bake sale is to be held by the P.T.A. in room 209.

TO FACILITATE finding the rooms in which meetings are to be held, the Girls' Gym Leaders and F.T.A. are providing ushers.

Letters have been mailed to all parents containing an invitation and a complete schedule of activities for the evening.

Mr. Stillinger has expressed a desire to know the reaction of the parents to the new form of open house. Rhodes Review reporters will be on hand in the cafeteria to hand out questionnaires indicating preferences or objections to this year's open house.

Mr. Stillinger Comments On School's Appearance

"I am very pleased with the school's appearance this year," states Mr. John J. Stillinger, principal.

Except for occasional writing on the walls, the building is clean and orderly, according to the principal.

MR. STILLINGER does not believe this would be possible, unless a large percentage of the students have acquired a feeling of pride in their school. He feels that students seem to be taking a greater pleasure in the building's appearance.

"We, the faculty, are trying to help students sense the importance of a well-kept, orderly area," adds Mr. Stillinger, "to insure good studying conditions."

THE PRINCIPAL REMARKS that students seem to regard the school as a personal part of their lives. He believes that even though damages still occur, like the breakage of the new glass doors, these do not reflect directly on Rhodians, for they are not necessarily at fault.

"In general, the improved conditions," concludes Mr. Stillinger, "indicate student concern and courtesy for each other."

National Honor Society Will Sponsor Drive, Project to Help Clothe Needy Area Children

All usable old clothing donated by Rhodes students from Nov. 6-11 will be appreciated by the National Honor Society in its efforts to launch a successful clothing drive. This service project will provide needy Cleveland-area children from kindergarten through twelfth grade with suitable school clothing.

Students should bring their clothing contributions to the conference room of the guidance office beginning Nov.

6. The clothing will then be distributed by an agency of the Cleveland Board of Education.

This is a worthwhile project," states Zoryslava Dmytryk, 12B, chairman of the drive, "and its success depends on the generosity of Rhodians and their efforts to publicize it to parents and neighbors."

A similar drive was sponsored by NHS in 1965.

"This previous drive was extremely successful and greatly appreciated by the two Cleveland schools which received the needed clothing," states Mrs. Nicoletta Theodore, NHS advisor.

Ram Flashes

S. A. T.

The Scholastic Aptitude Test will be administered to all interested 12B and 12A students on Saturday, Nov. 4 at Rhodes. Each senior planning to go to college should take this test if it is required by his prospective college choice. Rhodes is a center for the SAT and students from other nearby high schools will also come here to take the 3-hour test.

Law Speaker

Judge Whitlack will talk to the sixth and seventh period law classes of Mr. John White on Nov. 15. He will speak on the role of the juvenile court.

Honor Trip

Students who achieved the Honor Roll in the 1967 spring semester took a chartered bus trip yesterday to three Ohio cities, Milan, Tiffin, and Oberlin. The agenda of the trip included a visit to Edison's birthplace and the Milan Historical Museum in Milan, a stop at Heidelberg College in Tiffin, and a visit to Oberlin College.

Annual Magazine Drive Is Underway, Funds Are to Benefit Band, Orchestra

By CLAUDIA MYLES

"The annual Band and Orchestra Magazine Drive began Oct. 17 and will continue through Monday," states Mrs. Roesemann, Magazine Chairman.

Sponsored by the Friends of Rhodes Band and Orchestra, the Magazine Drive will provide money for band uniforms, contest fees, and for the repair and purchase of instruments. Field trips, such as the one to Ohio State, are also furnished by this money.

THE HIGHEST SELLER in the band or orchestra will win a two-foot high Gork. Those selling $25 or more will win a miniature Gork. There are also prizes for top sellers given by the magazines. These include radios and cameras.

Anyone selling $100 or more worth of subscriptions will have a chance to win an all-expense-paid trip to their choice of Paris, Rome, Tokyo, Zurich, or Honolulu.

The magazines being sold include Life, Look, McCall's, Reader's Digest, Better Homes and Gardens, plus 150 more.

"THIS DRIVE is the biggest money-raising project the band and orchestra has," states Mrs. Roesemann.

Last year, over $3,000 worth of subscriptions were sold. From this total, about forty per cent profit was received.

Anyone wishing to buy or renew a subscription can contact any member of the band, orchestra, or Mr. Michael Zand's music classes.

Special offers received already in magazine subscriptions will also be honored by this drive. The Instrumental Music Department will receive about fifty per cent of the profits.

GLC, FTA Co-Host 'Happening'

Goblins, Witches Romp Tonite

Bewitching smiles and ghoulish charm are the necessary passports for entrance into the mysterious land of ghosts and goblins tonight. Girls' Leaders Club and the Future Teachers of America will co-sponsor the "Halloween Happening" dance in the boys' gym from 8 to 11 p.m.

Tuneful skeleton string music will be provided by the Offset. The theme of the dance, "Halloween Happening," will be carried out in the decorations, which depict the various traditions of Halloween. Door prizes and refreshments have been planned to enhance the ghoulish atmosphere.

"THIS IS THE second time FTA and GLC have co-sponsored a dance," explains Mrs. George. "Last year's dance was socially and financially profitable for students and the clubs, and we are looking forward to similar success this year."

FTA members have conjured similar "spirit" message concerning the dance. "WITCHES WISELY WHISPER that the phantom future teachers and garish-goblin girls' leaders have brewed up a storm. Beware ye who dare to miss the black cat bash!"

Traditional dress requirements for the dance are a suit jacket or sweater and tie for boys and school clothes for girls.

Drama Class to Present 'The Marriage Proposal'

Anton Chekhov's play "The Marriage Proposal" will be presented by the drama class, informs Miss Rita Doherty, dramatics teacher. It will be staged tentatively on November 29 at an assembly.

There are three characters in the play. They are Natalia, portrayed by Mary Jane Ruszkowski, 10B; Lomof, played by Klaus Kulgen, 11A; and the father, portrayed by Dean Kowalczyk, 10A.

"WE HAVE A fine cast," states Miss Doherty, "and I'm sure the play will prove most enjoyable for all."

Backing the actors in the play will be Peggy Zapp, 10B, and the costume committee, and the stage crew headed by Raymond Dzik, 11B.

"It will be hard work but I know the cast will enjoy the play and do an excellent job," adds Holly Kuehner, 12A, student director.

Maxim Deadline Is Extended

Deadline for collecting Maxim Coffee jar seals has been extended to Thursday, Nov. 30, according to Mrs. William Kirkwood, membership chairman. Inner-seals, which can be redeemed for 25¢ each, may be deposited in the PTA box in the office. Money collected will be used by the Instrumental Music Department for the purchase of instruments, uniforms, and music.

Applications Available For NROTC Test

The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps will sponsor its twenty-second annual Navy College Aptitude Test on Dec. 9.

The test, given to seniors only, will be given at various test centers throughout Cleveland.

If the Navy College Aptitude Test is passed, an application for scholarship is obtained. After the application is accepted, a physical examination must be passed. Upon completion of the examination, the Navy will pay for four years of tuition, books, uniforms, and expenditures at any college having the NROTC program.

After completing college, the graduate must serve 5 years as Second Lieutenant in the Navy.

Deadline for registration for this free test is Nov. 17.

Do Cheerleaders Stifle Enthusiasm?

In past issues, the Rhodes Review has discussed the lack of enthusiasm on the part of the spectators at sporting events. Perhaps this poor response can be partly attributed to the routines and complicated cheers which the cheerleaders perform.

The various 'dance routines' that the cheerleaders perform detract from actual cheering by the fans. It appears that the cheerleaders concentrate too much on precision rather than on cheering and activation of spectator participation.

Cheerleading has become more of a performance than the actual leading of cheers. This is exemplified in the actual cheerleading tryouts. The candidates are tested on the performance of such acrobatic skills as splits, cartwheels, table-tops, eagle spreads, and back jumps.

Rhodes High is represented by very fine majorettes whose function it is to provide entertainment by the performance of precision routines. Why then do the cheerleaders attempt the very same thing?

Complicated singing cheers and routines tend to discourage participation by the fans. Lack of participation only stifles the spirit which is sorely needed to support our athletic teams.

Cheerleading tryouts are not open exclusively to girls. The Rhodes Review suggests that an addition of two or three boys to the cheerleading squad will not only enhance the squad but could attract a more active and avid participation on the part of the fans. The boys, instead of singing complicated cheers, would simply and plainly lead cheers in which everyone could follow.

Tryouts for the boys interested could be held during upcoming athletic events. Such tryouts would then be held under actual game conditions. The Rhodes Review would be willing to select these boys.

Perhaps the addition of boys to the cheerleading squad would serve to ignite the much needed spark of enthusiasm on the part of the fans.

Effort for Nothing?

As the fall football season is swiftly drawing to a close, the Rhodes Review would like to salute another team that has added honor and recognition to Rhodes High School — the cross country team.

The cross country team has been one of the top distance teams in the city for over ten years. It is apparent from the small support that the team receives that Rhodians are not aware of what cross country is.

Unlike track, cross country is a two-mile race through woods and seemingly endless hills. It calls for full team effort, rather than the fine performance of just a few key men. Each school's top five finishers' places are totaled and the school with the lowest score is the victor.

Rhodians should be proud to give the cross country team, along with all other athletic teams here at Rhodes, all the support and co-operation they deserve.

An Open Letter to National Honor Society Members

Dear Members,

The highest honor which can be bestowed upon an outstanding Rhodian is induction into the National Honor Society. Leadership, Scholarship, Character, and Service are the four qualifications for induction into NHS, and are included in the vows of new members. The Rhodes Review has conclusive evidence that two of these qualifications, leadership and service, have not been fulfilled by the majority of National Honor Society members.

The Rhodes Review has conducted a thorough study of these two categories and has found that in the most significant areas of school service, it seems that NHS members have fallen short of the example set by non-members.

There are 26 members of the Rhodes Chapter of NHS. All are seniors.

Of the 26 NHS members, only six participate in the cafeteria committee consisting of 59 student volunteers.

Of the 23 Student Council representatives, only four are NHS members.

Of the 26 NHS members, none are among the eight Guidance Office workers.

Only two of the honor study hall chairmen and secretaries are members of NHS.

NHS members number only two out of six attendance card collectors.

Of seven homeroom mail deliverers none are in NHS.

Of the 26 NHS members, none are among the ten people who work in the school store.

Only one NHS member is among the 16 library aides.

Of 20 nurse's aids, none are in NHS.

There are six cafeteria workers, none in NHS.

Only one of the 16 student office workers is an NHS member.

Of 39 Rhodes Review staffers, eight are in NHS.

There are 16 clubs in which seniors participate, providing a chance for anyone to exercise his leadership abilities. There are 53 officers of clubs in the school, of whom 40 are seniors. Only 15 of the officers are NHS members. It is true that elections do determine the officers; however, NHS members should be outstanding enough in leadership that other club members would feel them qualified for high positions in their clubs.

As far as Student Council officers are concerned, none are NHS members.

This study did not include members of any athletic teams.

After a close study of these revealing facts, one can draw some conclusions. Either the majority of NHS members have withdrawn their participation in organizations that require service and leadership, or a grave error has been made concerning the selection of these people on the basis of service and leadership.

If this situation continues to exist, then members of the National Honor Society have definite leanings toward becoming an "elite intelligentsia" that remains aloof from active participation in school activities which offer nominal recognition.

The Rhodes Review suggests that NHS members, in order to improve their image in the eyes of the other students of Rhodes, should become more active in such voluntary projects as honor study hall chairmen and secretaries, the cafeteria committee, tutoring, and office work.

NHS does offer tutoring; however, this program could be expanded in order that every student in need of tutoring may have a tutor. Perhaps the class teachers could submit names of students they feel need this help.

The facts mentioned in this letter will be made available to anyone who is interested.

Very truly yours,
The Rhodes Review Editorial Staff

The Roving Pollster

Girl, Boy Cheerleaders for Rhodes?

By PAT POST

Roving Pollster went to the boys of Rhodes to find out their opinions of boys and cheerleading. Many of the boys would not even consider the question, but some did and gave us these replies to "How do you feel about girl and boy cheerleaders?"

Lewis Ray, 10A — "A boy and girl cheerleading team would be a welcome change."

Marty Schuster, 11B — "Yes, if I didn't have to wear a skirt."

Jim Brown, 11B — "It's great, but you wouldn't catch me doing it."

Tom Gaba, 11B — "It would be better because the girls are for perfection and not cheering."

Tom Kehoe, 12B — "Boys can usually get more cheers and they don't dance around like the girl cheerleaders."

Brian Tomko, 11B — "It should be all right and be different."

Bob Hlaska, 11B — "This would be a boost to the athletic teams."

John Sobarnia, 11B — "I'd rather have girl cheerleaders than boys. They're better to look at."

Mr. Laderer, history teacher — "I don't think it would go over very big because the boys are too shy to get out and cheer. They think it's something for the girls to do."

Wayne Miller, 12A — "If girls try out for sports, then I'll try out for cheering."

John Rakowsky, 11B — "It would be an improvement on school spirit."

Greg Burnett, 11B — "Couldn't drag me out there for a million dollars."

Tom Hayman, 12B — "I want to be one!"

Gary Hill, 11B — "With boys there is nothing to watch, but they might get the cheers."

Dave Revecky, 10A — "I think boy cheerleaders would help quite a bit by getting people in the stands to cheer."

Nick DeBow, 11B — "I think boys should not be cheerleaders because they can't wear saddle shoes."

Warren Hauser, 12B — "I think boy and girl cheerleaders are a super idea. I would like to be a cheerleader, besides, I already have my saddle shoes!"

The total results of the poll, answered by 36 boys, are as follows: 24 said "Yes" to boy cheerleaders, 12 answered "No", 12 would like to be cheerleaders, 24 said "No" to being a cheerleader.

Editor's Mail Call

Dear Editor,

I would like to talk to you about your paper.

I think that in a school the students should not be forced to buy the paper. If the kids wanted the paper they would buy it. But your paper has nothing but advertisements at which you most likely get money for. So why should we pay $1 for something that we don't need.

Dallas McKinnie, 12B

Dear Dallas,

We would like to talk to you about your spelling. However, we will defer that task to your English teacher.

As it is, we find that the first two pages of our paper have absolutely no advertisements. As for pages three and four, there are several stories on each. We have ads in order to pay for the professional printing of the "Review," (after all, the printers won't do it free of cost), rather than have the school pay, which is the case in some schools. Besides, $1 is not so much when you consider all the information and entertainment you receive from the articles written by our ace reporters.

We are sure you realize now that you do need the "Review."

CONGRATULATIONS TO . . . Mr. Bernard Ward and Mr. Chester Varney for finally beating a little 72-year-old man in handball. We find it only fair to say that the little old man had one hand tied behind his back, was blindfolded and wasn't allowed to oil his wheelchair . . . Steve Perucco, 11A, who has devised an apple so mushy that whoever squeezes it will vow never to eat another apple again . . . Al Stas, 12B, who finally broke down and gave to the United Appeal. The fact that some homeroom ruffians had to turn him upside-down and shake him until his money came out will be left unmentioned . . . the Marching Band for presenting a fine special half-time show for parents last Saturday.

TALK ABOUT TALENT . . . Karen Zoller, 11A, has been trying without success since Friday to play "Fight the Team Across the Field" on the glockenspiel. Keep at it Karen.

GET READY, GET SET, GO!! . . . Congratulations to the Rhodes High Marching Band for being the first ones out of the stadium every time. (They even beat Bo-Diddley.)

MORE GRAY HAIRS FOR MR. T . . . Twenty Rhodes Review staff members attended the Press Journalism Institute yesterday to hear a Wall Street journalist speak.

ALL CITY SELECTED . . . Pupils accepted for All City Orchestra are Mary Kawka, 11A, violin, and Chris Roesemann, 10A, playing the French horn.

V.I.R.'s . . . Chris Ulicky, Howie Baumann, and Jeff Posen were selected to tour Wooster College. The tour of the campus was sponsored by the Science Department.

V.I.A. (Very Important Alumnus) . . . Robert Bemer, June '67, was awarded the Allegheny College Alumni scholarship. The award, the Louis A. Wells Memorial Scholarship, consists of $600 for one year.

PURDUE PRODIGY . . . John Wilker, June '63, has graduated first in his field of Metallurgy Engineering in the College of Engineering at Purdue University.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC . . . The five students selected to play in the 1967 Northeast Regional Ohio High School Orchestra are Kathy Kirkwood, flute, Bruce McGarvey, clarinet, Aarne Tammisaar, violin, Kathy Kopacka, violin, and Pete Fedynsky, violin.

CHANGED AGAIN . . . The Rhodes High Dance Band will appear on WKYC, channel 3, Oct. 29 at 8:30 a.m. The program is sponsored by the Board of Education and is entitled "The Young World."

BROKEN RECORD . . . The Honors Chemistry II class has achieved a record unbeaten since 1954. They have successfully broken 17 test tubes, 4 beakers, and one stirring rod in one period. By the way, the Science Department does not encourage anyone to attempt to beat this record.

School Exceeds UA Goal, Sancetta's Room Is Tops

Surpassing their United Appeal goal of $2,000, Rhodians contributed $2,145.32, with a per capita gift of $1.45.

Mrs. Sancetta's 12B girls lead the school with 460%. In second place with a per capita gift of $3.79 is Mr. Moran's homeroom, 219. The next six homerooms that topped the 200 mark are Mr. Ehlert, 132, with 351%; Mr. Dunn, 303, with 317%; and Miss Glaiter, 205, with 300%. Mr. Wolcott, 125, attained 256%; Mr. Seitz, 216, with 245%; and Mr. Brenner, 312, with 214% follow.

"This is the first time in the 35-year history of Rhodes that the boys beat the girls in their per capita gift," states Miss Lanese, United Appeal chairman. Boys contributed an average of $1.42 per person, beating the girls' average by one cent.

"I want to thank everyone who played a part in making the United Appeal campaign a success at Rhodes," Miss Lanese says.

Drag racing is one of the most well-known sports to teenagers, as well as some adults.

THESE CARS ARE purchased, built, painted, taken apart, and rebuilt until they meet the standards of their owners.

One such car is a 427 Chevy which was recently shown at the car show downtown. This "machine" has turned times of 2:26 in a quarter mile. For those of you who do not understand, that's really "moving!" This car "wears" the name of Loser. It is light-green and dark-green. It also ran this year at various dragstrips in Ohio.

OF COURSE, THERE is more to a car than speed. The driver is a very important factor in the success of a racing car. The Loser belongs to Kenny Dovak of Harvard Avenue, who goes by the name of Wa-Hoo. He is 23 years old and has worked on this '66 Chevy Impala for about a year and a half.

Earlier this summer there was a Ford and Chevy meet at Thompson Drag Raceway. A dark blue Chevy, which wears the name Tension took first place. The car belongs to Tony Star, an East-sider. Star's car also took SSE at Thompson this summer. This means no one beat him. In this class he won $50.00 everytime.

AT THOMPSON DRAG Raceway, as well as many other raceways, the cars are broken down into classes such as SSE-Super Stock Eliminator. Tension had won the name of Mr. SSE, until last Sunday when Mr. SSE lost his name by blowing up.

Puzzled Girl Defines Football As 'Camouflaging an Identity'

By CLAUDIA MYLES

What is football? Football is excitement. It is cheering and jumping. Most of all, football is a puzzle to girls.

What fun is there in running down a field, only to be knocked down and sent back to the beginning?

THEN THERE IS the football uniform. Camouflaging the player's true identity, it then makes numbers necessary. How can a girl or parents possibly tell which boy is theirs without the numbers on their backs? And, did you notice the black eye make-up they wear? Someone should tell them it belongs OVER the eyes, not under them!

A pre-game ritual always leaves me with compassion for a certain player. The players rush out onto the sidelines and promptly pile upon one poor boy. I suppose it is the team's subtle way of telling him he did something wrong. Poor kid. He deserves at least a second chance.

THE GAME ITSELF is exciting. Just try and find that ball once the game has started. The best thing to do is play follow-the-leader. Find someone in the stands who seems to understand. Then, conscientiously do what they do. Cheer, jump, and moan. You'll eventually warm up and also look like you know what's going on. This way you can also look at who's coming with whom and wearing what.

The referees are another part of football. As they dash up and down the field frantically waving their arms, I wonder if it wouldn't be easier just to shout what was wrong. And the red hanky, what color it adds to the game as it is gaily tossed into the air.

Cheerleaders help to boost morale and activate fans. With their "Hold that line," "Let's go," and "Let's go defense, let's go," even I can partially figure out the action on the field. Enviously we watch as they leap and twirl. To others, we confidently say, I could do that if I wanted to. Then, secretly thinking, gad! if I did that I'd probably split in half!

THE SCOREBOARD IS the friend of the ignorant. How else could I go home and tell my father what went on without its help? The scoreboard tells the time, quarter, and most of all, the score.

Finally, I would like to thank those responsible for the Rams' helmets. Without the little ram on the side, I might never know which team is curs!

Inspiration

By JANET KLEMENC
Guest Writer

Inspiration is a bird that flits away whenever she is most sorely needed. Fickle, she deserts like rats leave a sinking ship. She, like Lady Luck, has a few favorites she gives the choicest bits to, throwing the rest just the crumbs. She makes ordinary men write Pulitzer Prize-winning plays, Edisons invent, and scientists realize that something is inversely proportional to something else. Right now, detesting the things I have written about her, Inspiration has completely deserted me.

"GET HIM!" is the only thought running through Fred Hadacek's (65) mind in pursuit of Lincoln's speedster, Willie Avery (21). The Rams dropped Lincoln by a commanding 32-6 margin.

Namer Game Ends J. V. Season, Ram Passes Riddle West, 34-6

By MIKE MAYO

To end the season with a 4-3 record, the Ram J.V.'s will need a victory over Holy Name in their final game next Tuesday at 4 p.m. The Rams added victory number three with a convincing 34-6 decision over West High Tuesday afternoon.

In the opening period against West, Ray Chiacchi, who played both ways, picked off a West aerial which set up Rick Kozimor's 30-yard touchdown scramble on a halfback reverse. Rick Repuzynski's run added two more points.

IN THE SECOND quarter, quarterback Ron Buckwald found his favorite receiver Fred Guger, for two touchdowns. Guger, who has caught four passes, this year, all for touchdowns, added his latest two on 45 and 17 yard receptions.

John Ofcar also caught a Buchwald pass in the second quarter for an 8 yard touchdown. The TD was set up by Bob Matson's fumble recovery.

Lineman Steve Erret fell on a West fumble in the fourth quarter, to set up Buchwald's 1-yard plunge for the last score of the game.

The RON BUCHWALD-Fred Guger combination clicked again for a 66 yard score against Ignatius after Rhodes had the ball only 43 seconds following the first Ignatius score. Ray Chiacchi took a pass in for the twin conversion points.

The second and third quarter were dominated by the powerful Ignatius offense and defense.

Repuzynsky scored the final Ram tally on a two-yard dive. Ron Mizak's recovery of an Iggy fumble set up the score. The final score was 32-14, Ignatius.

Badminton Team Falls to Marshall

The highlight of Rhodes second place finish in the Senate Badminton Championships was Cindy Metzger's victory in the girls' singles division.

The Rhodes team tied with West Tech for second place honors, while John Marshall won the tournament. The championships were held at West Tech, October 19.

Another highlight of the tournament for the Rhodes team was in the boys' single division. Wayne Miller captured the runner up spot in this event.

"We will continue the badminton team," exclaims head coach, Mr. Sovey. "Eventually we will extend badminton into a tennis team."

Other team members were Jeff Baker, Tom Kehoe, Joyce Stefanichik, Bob Beck, Mary Ann McCreary, and Kathy Kapral.

Johnston, Wilson Spark Seventh Place Finish

Marshall Edges Out Ram Pacers

By AL STAS

Once more Marshall has bested the Ram distancemen by a matter of one or two points as shown at the Arena and again last Saturday at the District by a score of 134-135.

Amherst Steele captured first in Division II. Dan McCrone of St. Ignatius took first in the meet with a time of 10:34.

"Although the team didn't qualify for the Regional meet they came through with a greater team effort which may be a determining factor in the Senate meet," remarks Coach Tekesky.

The team, made up of Jay Johnston, Jerry Jermann, Jerry Wilson, Mike Gruntkowski, Doug Wittig, Brian Caunters, and Lynn Hoag, placed seventh out of 16 teams. Jay Johnston and Jerry Wilson took top honors for the Rams by capturing 12th and 15th places, respectively, out of a field of 12 runners. Jerry Jermann and Mike Gruntkowski took 22nd and 36th.

In J.V. competition, juniors Bill Lupson, Kent Neuman, and Bill Larkin placed 16th, 18th, and 26th, respectively, out of a field of 190 runners.

Last Tuesday the distancemen shutout West High by capturing the first five varsity places and the first eleven J.V. positions.

Mooney Gridders Learn Fundamentals In First Season of Active Competition

With the build-up of the future Rhodes Ram football teams in mind, Mr. Mark Laderer, a history teacher at Rhodes, coaches ninth grade boys who presently attend Charles A. Mooney Junior High School.

"Next year," says coach Laderer, "after their first season of organized competition, the boys should be better acquainted with the sport, the plays, and the equipment."

After the first five games of their six-game schedule, the freshmen stand at 1-3-1 (second Marshall game results were unavailable) after losing to Glenville, 36-0, and battling Marshall to a scoreless tie in a game which saw nothing exciting except fullback Bill Kasper's 20-yard scramble in which he broke six tackles. In three years, when these boys meet again as varsity players, look for an exciting game.

"Prospects for next year's J.V. team have to include Jim Kasper, Tom Clancy, Mark Bradescu, and 'lightning' Kirk Meurer, who runs the 220 in 23.9 seconds," states Laderer. Meurer has not been matched in this feat by any other freshman football player.

"The boys have increased 500 per cent from the times when they did not know what shoulder pads looked like to now," laughs Coach Laderer.

'Need Tremendous Defense' — Templin

Ignatius-Rhodes Rivalry Ignites Tomorrow Night at Marshall

By HARRY MARANTIDES

Hopeless? Absurd? Impossible? — Yes, a Rhodes victory over St. Ignatius is generally considered to be a combination of all three, but Coach Jim Templin and his varsity gridders have different ideas about who's going to take whom in tomorrow night's Ignatius-Rhodes West Senate Donnybrook at John Marshall at 7:30.

When the average Rhodian hears the mention of the upcoming game, he automatically pictures the game's outset with the Rams on the losing end in which the Wildcats pile up a big stack of points.

Even though the blue and gold can sport a 4-0 Senate and 5-1 overall record and can claim a share of the first place honors with South in the Senate, Iggy does not appear as strong a team as when it had Brian Dowling and company a few years back.

"We'll need a tremendous defense and our offense will have to execute ball control if we expect to beat Ignatius," predicts Coach Templin.

West High, considered by many as a team that will probably keep Lincoln company in the Senate cellar, got in a couple of good licks against Iggy, stopping three Wildcat drives within the 20-yard line. Despite this tremend-

Lakewood a scare before going down 49-12. Prior to the Lincoln game, the coach cited Lakewood as the Rams best offensive performance. And speaking of the Lincoln game...

Fullback Chuck Everhart took the hint from the Pepsi ad and really "poured it on," scoring three touchdowns of one, 10, and 11 yards as he led the Rams to its first victory in six starts, 32-6. Rhodes is 1-3 in the Senate, tied with West and West Tech for fifth place.

Linebackers Ken Kukla and Nate Santamaria characterized an alert defensive charge. Kukla picked off a pair of passes and Santamaria covered a pair of fumbles. Kukla has a few parallels with Johnny Brewer, Cleveland Browns linebacker. He has made more receptions at LB than he has made at the tight end position.

Also scoring for the Rams were Lynn Maximuk on a five-yard keeper and Nick DeBow, who crashed through the line from one yard out. Everhart ended the day with 140 yards in 22 carries.

"Injuries have hurt the team's overall performance," comments Coach Templin. "Frank Tuepka's injury has hurt the effectiveness of the offensive line. Ralph D'Amico has been in and out, Ron Amrich and Bill Carney are out for the season, and Dave Wagner refractured his arm."

Marshall beat the Rams 32-6. End Bob Mlazovsky scored on a 79 yard aerial from quarterback Chuck Rudar.

ous defensive effort, Ignatius made the cowboys their third victim, winning 21-8.

Last week, the PD ranked the Wildcats number five in the area; however, the Rams have dropped eighth seated Eastlake North in a pre-season scrimmage, have gone down to fourth class Parma 32-6, and have given top ranked

Dennis Cirbes, (Jan. '64) is making his bid for All-American honors this season. The senior cornerback at Purdue is highly rated by coaches and players. Dennis was recently honored by the Purdue team by being named defensive captain for the Ohio State game. Aware of this honor, Cirbes opened the scoring with a 35 yard pass interception touchdown run.

Interscholastic bowling has started again. Under the guidance of Mr. Robert Sovey, the Rhodes team is tied for first place in the Senate with St. Joseph. Team members include 12A Terry Yerty and Don Wenz, 12B, co-captains; Jim Maxwell, Bill Wischmeier, Bill Syvuk, and Bill Dolata, 11B's; and 12B John Budzik. Bill Syvuk and Bill Wischmeier share the high game honors with each bowling a 203 game.
