College Selection By Computer

BY CORINNE BENNETT

College bound students will now have a better chance to find the ideal college which will best fit their personal needs. With Select, a computer-assisted service intended to aid students in choosing colleges, a prospective college student's replies to a questionnaire are matched against information on causes and academic competition at 3,000 American colleges.

According to Miss Annabelle Whalen, guidance counselor, the Select program will help solve the problem of how to choose between the colleges which will best fit his needs. Also, the student's aptitudes in 15 subject areas are compared to the emphasis given these subject areas at particular colleges.

By request, Select will analyze a student's scholarship potential at each school, and only suggest colleges which can be afforded by the particular student, or where the student will have a good chance of getting financial aid to cover educational and living costs.

The cost of this program is $15 which will give the student a choice

Foreign Pupil?

Interest Needed

BY HARRY MARANTIDES

If Rhodes High School wants to host a foreign exchange student for the fall semester, the school must form an American Field Service chapter, and find a family to house the student by May 15 deadline. So said Mrs. James Toedtman, American Field Service chapter coordinator.

"This could be a fine experience for the school and the community," said Mrs. Toedtman, at a special organizing meeting March 26th at Rhodes. "However, the community must sense its importance first. They can't visualize it. Once the program gets started it generally keeps itself going. Student interest will follow after the adults' sense the value of such an exchange program."

An exchange program serves as a challenge to both school and community life, according to Mrs. Toedtman. She believes 20 active members is a sufficient number to form a chapter.

College Selection By Computer

There will be for all 12A boys a assembly next Wednesday in the cafeteria during a lengthened homeroom.

Speaker for the assembly will be Staff Sergeant Ronald Borius. It will be his duty to speak to these boys on their military commitment after high school. However, it is not the purpose of this assembly to recruit any boy. It is just a service for senior boys who are interested in joining some branch of the service or for those who have questions about their commitment.

SPRING CONCERT

The Spring Concert will be held May 16 in the Auditorium. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Tickets can be purchased from band or orchestra members.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council will sponsor a computer dance May 29.
Unite Adults; Start AFS

Rhodes must meet a May 15 deadline if it is to support such a program for the fall semester. It is not too late — if the adult community provides the necessary leadership to support such a project.

Listen adult community. Rhodesians have seen the benefits of such a program as indicated by student reaction to a recent National Assembly featuring two exchange students. They were Keiko Uchimura, a Japanese girl, and Michel Antoine, a French boy. Ask your son or daughter about the benefits of the Foreign Exchange program. Or ask the Mr. Etter Reiman family of 2709 Oak Park Rd., who hosted an exchange student from South Africa last weekend.

If money to support this program is no problem, assures Student Council President Doug Hovnyak. In order to have such a program in the fall, an area chapter must be formed and a family to house the student must be found.

The burden is now on the adult community. Your children want the program now. Don’t deny your son or daughter of their learning experience which student John Adams is now experiencing. ACT NOW! For the best interests of your community and of your children.

The adult leadership of Rhodes High School must work in supporting a new and beneficial program presently being initiated by Student Council — obtaining a foreign exchange student.

The Adult Boosters are in the spring with their chorale directors: Friends of Rhodes Band and Orchestra offered lodging for the Kent State University band recently. The task now facing the adult community is providing leadership to the first build and then sustain a Rhodes chapter of the American Field Service.

A separate organization with officers, like the Boosters, PTA, Old Booklyn’s Citizen’s group, is necessary for this exchange program to succeed.

Go To It!

Mikado

Many weeks of practice, including spring vacation, will come to a climax with the first Rhodes production of Mikado.

Many hours of rehearsal have been put in by the cast and the directors to make the Mikado a successful presentation. Music, drama, scenery, lights, tickets, costumes, and advertising have all been co-ordinated to present the Mikado.

This work has been done for you, your family, and neighbors. Shouldn’t you do something in return? Be there! And to the production company of the Mikado — Break a Leg!

May Fair

It’s a Happening! This is where it’s at — the Rhodes High School Fair, being held May 2.

It’s a first! Never before in the history of Rhodes High has there been such games, prizes, dancing, and movies all on one time. Although the fair is being sponsored by the Student Council and school clubs, admission is not restricted to Rhodesians. Everyone will be there and their curiosity is welcome.

Remember, this is the place to be — Friday, May 2 from 7:30 to 11 p.m.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor, I’d like to take this opportunity to thank everyone connected with the recent Kent State Orchestra performance. Although too many young adults think this type of music is “out” if they really sat down and listen, it can be quite enjoyable. Thank you again for the concert. I wish I could have appreciated the concert, as much as it did.

Kathy Sredniami, 11A

Dear Editor,

How is there a call for lowering voting age when old responsible careers such as driving and fire arms requirement ages go up? If the youth of today are more mature should not the reverse be true? How are the youth of today more mature than a boy of years ago who had a job and a full job and when today’s youth is still in high school.

America carefully prepares its youth in a step by step procedure. Responsibility, then the privileges, not the reverse. The military produces responsibility and self-dependence. One’s willingness to fight for his country earns him the ballot. What would be contributed by the youth, but another minority group to be catered to? Voting is not a right. It is a legal responsibility and privilege granted to an all too small portion of the human race.

The vote comes all too soon for most. Think about it.

Rags to Riches’ Story

BY JANET KLEMENC

A Rhodes High intensive business teacher was as actress, a model, “Miss Pepsi Cola,” in a parade, and worked her way through college.

Mrs. Aurelia E. Henton, a graduate of John Adams High School and Central State University, finished her education after she was married. She started college with a 2.30 and determination. Holding two jobs and attending classes was too much, however, and she left in her junior year. After fifteen years, Mrs. Henton was able to return, where she worked her way through college while raising her sons, George and Robert.

“Stay in school, even if the going’s hard,” advises Mrs. Henton. She always strives for excellence. As an example, she received a 96.26 rating on a junior stenographer test. She ranked first of 900 contestants.

Dramatics is one of Mrs. Henton’s interests. While in Chicago she was a member of the Richard B. Harrison Players, and she played in “Simply Heavenly” with the Karamoj Theater group in Cleveland.

One of her major roles was that of the empress in “Emperor of Haiti” by Langston Hughes. Mr. Hughes himself viewed it and felt it was as good as the New York production. She was Mary Magdalene in “The Rock” and also appeared in “Your Town and Mine” and “The Valiant Ones” as well as several one-act plays.

Fans Started By Japanese

By MARIA MAIROGBIAN

This evening’s performance, Mikado, is based on Japan; hence, it may interest some people to know about one of its major customs — Fans.

Fans are said to have been invented by the Japanese in 670 A.D. similar to the construction of fans’ wings. But, an old legend questions its real origin or Chinese also say that Langin, daughter of a Mandarin, (Chinese officer) invented it.

She was attending a feast and found the weather quite warm. She removed her mask and began waving it to and fro. Amazed by this idea, other ladies of the court began reciprocating as they felt this was most graceful.

In early Japan, the fan was considered “an emblem of life.” When the fan was opened it predicted a happy future. The custom of using a fan was not only for cooling oneself but also for greeting someone.

Most of the fans are composed of 38 blades fastened with a rivet. Many of them are ornamented with various flowers, and birds.

Fujiyama Revisited
In Mikado Scenery
BY MARILYN SICHAU

“A chiffon arch, a few benches, several trees, and a backdrop are about the only things being used for the scenery for Mikado” states Mr. Harry Herrmann, head of the Industrial Arts Department.

The backdrop formerly used in operettas as “Little Mary Sunshine” is being replaced this year because of its age. The backdrop consists of a Japanese garden scene which carries out the theme of the operetta.

“About two hundred board feet of lumber plus several sheets of plywood were used on the scenery,” remarked Mr. Herrmann.

An undetermined amount of time was spent on the scenery. Bob Buda, 12B, Ron Dean, 12A, Mike Demcho, 12A, George Dobrovic, 12A Bill Dolata, 12A, Dave Geniuiz, 12B, Bill Guder, 12A, Jay Jacobs, 12A, Rick Konimor, 12B, Detlef Peter, 12A, Frank Rusnak, 12A, Nate Santamaria, 12A, Steve Skleniak, 12A, and George Trappe, 12B, were the boys who helped Mr. Herrmann work on the scenery.

Extending fifteen feet into the backdrop is the mountain Fujiyama.

“This is the most romantic place to visit” states Mr. Anthony Eterovich art teacher in charge of the backdrop. The peak of the mountain represents the zealous of lofty, romantic thoughts.

Seniors to Take AP Test in May
Advanced Placement Examinations will be given the week of May 11-17.

On Monday May 12, from 11:00-2:30 p.m. the English exam will be administered in 104; the Mathematics Examination will be given in room 310 on Tuesday, May 13 from 11:00-2:30 p.m. and the American History exam will be administered on Wednesday, May 14 from 11:00-2:30 p.m. in room 104. These tests will comprise the entire school day for these seniors.

According to Miss Anabelle Whalen, Guidance Counselor students who are taking these tests have prepared for them by taking college level courses in their senior year at high school. The tests provide a means by which secondary school students may demonstrate their readiness to undertake advanced courses as college freshmen.

The results of the tests will be made available in July.

Home Ec. Sews
Mikado’s Kimonos
BY MARGARET THOMPSON

Confucius says, “Come one: Come All!” to the spring operetta MIKADO, tonight and tomorrow to be held in the school auditorium at 8 p.m.

At the present time, the Home Economic Department has completed sewing 80 kimonos for the operetta.

“The average yardage for a kimono is six yards,” according to Miss Marie Lanese, head of the Home Economics Department, “and takes two hours to sew.” It takes about three yards for the average dress. The total yardage used for the 80 kimonos was 480 yards of material. The material was purchased by Miss Rita Doherty, English teacher, at the Cleveland Fabric Shop and Kreuges for the total cost of $500. The money used for the material was taken out of the school fund.

“The girls who helped with the sewing are girls in the advanced clothing classes, who volunteer their time and talent. They remained after school and many of the girls took the costumes home to sew. The following girls are to be commended, according to Miss Lanese, for their untiring efforts: Patty Prasak, 11A; Ginny Szabo, 12A; Marsha Pros, 12A; Marianne Vardaro, 12A; Laura Lohrke, 12A; Rene Horvath, 11A; Diane Cashmere, 11A; Betty Skandera, 12B; Helen Simon, 12A; Cindy Wals, 11A; and Karen Kowalski, 12A.

N.H.S. Assembly Features Foreign Exchange Students
By LOIS MCLEAN
Keiko Vehimura, a Japanese girl, and Michel Antoine, a French boy, spoke at the NHS Assembly Wednesday, April 2nd.

Doug Hornyk, Student Council president, explained that the two students were with the American Field Service Program and that they are now attending North Olmsted and North Olmsted Falls High schools. After the introduction, the two exchange students went into action.

Keiko, wearing traditional Japanese costume, spoke first. Japan is “a real long country” she said, as she stretched out her arms to help describe it.

Kneeling on the stage, she demonstrated the traditional Japanese way to open a door. She explained that the old customs are now used mostly during ceremonies and holidays.

According to Keiko, hot dogs and hamburgers are popular in Japan and the Japanese and American teenagers are basically the same.

Keiko got some surprised reactions from the audience when she described the Japanese School system. Students having to go to school six days a week and sixth grade boys having to take cooking classes seemed strange to Rhodians.

Maxa Wins Awards In Slot Car Racing

Ram Rod

Ford's new Maverick is really a nine-tenth scale Falcon. In its quest for a budget model to compete with imports, Ford designed an all-new, smaller unit body and then made use of existing mechanical components. The result --- a kind of super compact car that still remains larger than its imported competitors. Driving effort is reasonable, although neither power brakes nor power steering is available.

The brakes are identical to the six-cylinder Mustang, however, except for the four-wheel bolt used for the Mustang's wheels. Ford weighs about 325 lbs. less than a 1969 Falcon and has a long 2.83 to 1 axle ratio. Top gear acceleration suffers because of the rear end, but Ford's proving grounds tests indicate that this combination will produce an average of 22.5 miles per gallon.

As it is, the Maverick is certainly not a revolutionary car but only those who expected a four-wheeled bicycle instead of a small Falcon will be disappointed.
Mary Garstang
South African Girl Visits Rhodes

By PAT MARRIOTT

"I hope that her visit has stirred up enough interest in the African Field Service (AFS) program so that we can bring an exchange student to Rhodes."

So said 11A Jill Reinam who played hostess to Mary Garstang, a student from the Union of South Africa, who attended classes at Rhodes, Friday, April 18.

Mary is one of 31,000 exchange students studying in the United States. Mary arrived in this country last August and has been attending Westlake High School since September. She will return to South Africa in August.

"I cannot put into words what I think of the AFS program," said Mary, an 18-year-old, congenial redhead.

Mary attended College in South Africa for six months before coming to the United States, because of the difference in seasons between the two countries. South Africa, is not as primitive, Mary assured her listeners, as Americans are led to believe. She lives about 5,000 miles from the jungle.

"Miss Mary," as Jill Reinam calls her, talked about the AFS program and her country in Jill's classes. Her listeners wondered if she found high school boring after attending college. She said that it was not boring at all. She has not attended school with boys since the 7th grade and she enjoyed their "naughty" tricks. Because of her academic course, she was not allowed to take typing at South Africa. She feels that the typing she took at Westlake will be of great use to her at college.

"The American Field Service is like the UN," states Mary. "It's purpose is to promote understanding and goodwill between countries. Each year thousands of students like myself realize that all countries are basically alike."

Photographer for Review Is

Familiar Sight at Sports Events

BY LAURA AROSON

Laden with a single camera and lens case, Rhodes Review photographer, Bruce Bream, 12A is a familiar sight at all sports events at Rhodes.

"I do a lot of running," states Bruce, "and I often play 'by eye'."

Bruce does a lot of this running at basketball and football games, and track and field events, where he does his type of 'reporting' for the Review. Because of the new method of off-set printing used in the Review, there is more picture allowance to make a paper that the students can enjoy reading.

"A lot of pictures in a school paper are good," comments Bruce. "They make it more interesting and attract the reader's eye."

But being a photographer does not require picture-snapping. Many points concerning the shots used for the paper must be considered.

"A photographer has to know how to be in the right place at the right time," Bruce feels. "In order to take good pictures and get the best shots."

Bruce began photography as a hobby, about two and a half years ago, taking pictures in California during vacations.

"I was using an Instamatic then," Bruce recalls, "but I've come a long way from then."

Bruce remembers going through the library to find books on photography.

"I wanted to look up some photographer's jargon, like 'camera talk'," he relates.

Bruce participated in the Hawken Film Festival last year and this year. The previous year he made a film on the 'Futility of War,' and his new movie is about why a disillusioned teenager would take drugs.

Bruce re-established the Camera Club after not having one at Rhodes for 20 years. The club, with Mr. VanNortwick advisor, meets Tuesday nights.

Mr. F. N. Schwarz, a professional photographer, teaches the club about composition.

"It is very helpful with our photography problems," says Bruce.

Bruce started working as a Review photographer in his junior year and since then, he has used 20 gallons of chemicals, and about 100 pictures for the paper, on pictures for the Review.

"Over a thousand pictures taken, though none have all been printed," states Bruce. "There were 50 pictures taken for the two center pages of the last issue of the Review alone," he adds.

Bruce Dwyyn, 12A, and Jeff Schwarz, 10A, assist Bruce with picture-taking.

Mikado Showing Will Use Three Thousand Programs

BY ALICE JOHNSON

Three thousand programs are now ready to be used tonight and Friday at the Rhodes High production of Mikado. These programs will probably be taken for granted for the hard work and time that has gone into the making of them.

The first step was making the design for the cover of the program. This cover was designed by Mr. William Steck, art teacher. Mr. Stacks has done the cover design and artwork for the past eight operettas.

The programs themselves are typed on a 5000 Vartyper machine. This machine justifies the lines and varies the letter style.

Cinderella to Run at Tech

By BILL SPERRY

Half a point may not seem significant but it was all the Ignatius trackmen needed in the annual meet held on March 28. Ignatius captured first with 47½ points to the Rams 47. The Cinderella will be out to avenge this defeat on May 2 in the West Menlo League meet at West Tech.

"We have a very good chance to take first place in this meet. This will be one of the most important meets of the season to us," states head track coach Jim Zickes.

With the season nearing its peak, the Ram cinderella will compete in the preliminaries of Annual West Tech Relays this Friday at 4:30, with finals at 7:30 p.m. The action will be run at the West Tech track.

Last year the rams scored six points to take 8th place. The two mile relay team captured first with a time of 8:13.9. Rich Kazmier is the only returning member of that squad. The Rams already have a 8:12.2 in that event so far this year. The combined efforts of Bob Mlazovsky and Don Gallagher gave the Rams a fifth place in the pole vault last year.

On April 15, the Rams dealt their arch rival, John Marshall, a crushing defeat by beating them by a score of 72% to 9%. Dushman Dave Kozyak scored a triple win by capturing first in the 100, 440, and 220 yard dash.

Senior Kent Newman won the mile with a 4:35 and took a third in the half. Junior Don Gallagher captured first in the pole vault with a vault of 12'6", with Bob Mlazovsky taking second. Mlazovsky also took first in the high jump. Junior Ron Hertzog captured a first in the low hurdles.
