

Graduating senior club presidents are, left to right; Terri Serkasevich, Captain of Ramettes; Mary Anne Sroka, Math Club and Student Leader of Triple Trio; Linda Nikolajczyk, Girls' Leaders Club and Senior Choir; Joe Simeone, Honor Study Halls and Cafeteria Chairman; Elaine Evans, Band; and Becky Neogeatte, Cafeteria Committee Chairman.

Warren Guthrie Speaks At Graduation Program

BY PAT BOHNER

Ninty-six seniors will be stepping up on stage to receive their diplomas this semester finishing off the last of their high school years.

This semester's commencement ceremonies, following no special theme, will take place in the Rhodes auditorium this Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m.

The main speakers of the senior class commencement will be Mr. Warren Guthrie, Director of Public Relations, of Standard Oil Company.

Mr. Guthrie was formerly a news commentator on a television station and a teacher at Western Reserve University.

Rev. John Simons will pronounce the invocation. He is a minister from the Church of St. Philip the Apostle.

Rhodes Music Department will participate in the ceremonies. There will be two solos in the program. Senior Linda Stipek will play "Chaminade" on her flute.

Elaine Evans, accompanied by Sue Corbin, will play a clarinet number entitled "Clarinet Royal."

Class President Steve Perucco will represent his entire class speaking in the ceremonies. Vice president, Joe Simeone will lead the group with the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. William F. Boyd, vice president of the Cleveland Board of Education will present the 96 graduating students with their diplomas.

According to Mr. J. J. Stillinger, principal, this program is one that will be interesting to the graduating class, to their parents, and friends and to the student performers.

"Commencement ceremonies should be pleasant, dignified, and enjoyable," informs Mr. Stillinger, "and this one will be."

"It's touching when a group of people you have worked with for three years suddenly step out of the scene," states Mr. Stillinger. "I think the seniors do have a lot of feeling about commencement, and I certainly do, too."

Rhodes Review

Vol. 39, No. 6 JAMES FORD RHODES HIGH SCHOOL, CLEVELAND, OHIO Thursday, January 16, 1969

THIS FALLEN FENCE post poses a hazard for anyone who walks under it, as 12A Dean Kowalszyk demonstrates. The post has been there for six weeks.

Seniors To Receive Awards At Assembly

BY KATHY OCKUNZZI

Graduating Seniors will receive their awards at the Honors Awards Assembly tomorrow morning.

The Bausch and Lomb Medal for excellence in business, physical education, English, home economics, math, music, science, and social studies.

Mr. Stillinger will award deserving seniors with medals for Jean Hoskin, yearbook editor, will give the yearbook dedication and make the January 1969 Aries.

When New Semester Begins The 27th

10th Period Classes Cut To Two

By HARRY MARANTIDES

Rhodes expects to have only two 10th period classes next semester. According to principal Mr. John J. Stillinger, the change was made possible because of a decreased enrollment, as a result of January graduation of 96 pupils.

The two classes will be Chemistry and Production Arts. The administration's policy of having three lunch periods—4th, 5th, and 6th will be maintained says Mr. Stillinger.

"Rhodes will maintain three lunch periods," says the principal. "because the administration believes that the student body enjoys having a little room while eating. Our cafeteria isn't glamorous, but we try to make conditions as comfortable as possible."

Only a sudden bulge in one subject will necessitate additional 10th periods.

Operetta

An operetta is tentatively being planned by Miss Rita Doherty, English and drama teacher and Mr. Gilbert Van Nortwick, vocal music director. It will be held some time this spring.

Foreign Student Coming, Will Arrive Next June

Student Council, working with the PTA, is planning to bring a Foreign Exchange student to Rhodes next June through the American Field Service.

"A foreign student," says Doug Hornyak, 12B Student Council President, "will benefit everyone who comes in contact with him both as a student and as a person."

On Friday, May 2, from 8-11 p.m., Student Council is planning to promote a school fair. Clubs will be given contracts, and by setting up booths for games or side shows will earn money for their organization.

"This is to be a social and fun event," says Hornyak. "During Spring most social activities are for seniors only, and we are trying to remedy this situation."

Winter Concert

Music from two popular Broadway shows was presented last night at the Instrumental Music Department's Annual Winter Concert.

Performing with the band and orchestra were soloists Elaine Evans and Linda Stipek.

Lou Elgart Conducts Prom Orchestra

BY ALICE JOHNSON

"Moonlight and Roses" is the theme for the Senior Prom to be held tomorrow night in the Homestead Room of the Pick-Carter Hotel from 9-12 p.m.

The entertainment will be provided by Lou Elgart and his Orchestra. The tickets for the prom are $4 per couple.

"We had some trouble with arrangements at the Pick-Carter Hotel but now everything is moving rather smoothly. I think our ultimate goal of success will be attained," explained Steve Perucco, 12A class-president.

Arrangements for the After-Prom have been made at the Eastgate Colliseum at the Eastgate Shopping Center. The After-Prom will be held from 1-5 a.m.

The cost of the After-Prom is $5 per couple. This price includes bowling, swimming, billiards and miniature golf.

Ram Flashes

CLASS DAYS

Class days are as follows: 12B - January 20, 11A - January 21, 11B - January 22. Boys are urged to wear a coat and tie in support of their class. Girls should wear appropriate dress.

END OF SEMESTER

No school will be held January 23rd. Students will be dismissed at 10:40, January 24th for the end of the semester. Classes will resume on January 27th for one-half day.

YEARBOOKS

Yearbooks will be distributed tomorrow, January 17th.

Andy Is Your Favorite Coach

The Rhodes Review believes that Student Council and Boosters should be prepared with a program of ballot collection, when the Plain Dealer's favorite cage coach contest begins soon.

Last year, Student Council and Booster's canvassing campaign was started with only two weeks left in the contest. When will it start this year? It should start when the contest does.

As a starter, it might be possible to make

Hats Off

The Rhodes Review would like to commend the Latin Club for the service it provides selling soft drinks, potato chips, and candy at Basketball games. The Latin Club operates the concession stand before, during, and after the basketball games at this school. Mrs. Wanda Ayres, sponsor of the Latin Club, should also be commended for her dedicated help in the preparation of this stand. Much effort goes into this stand and recognition of this service is due. Thank you Latin Club and Mrs. Ayres for the "pause that refreshes" at basketball games.

I Remember The Time...

Departing seniors take with them not only an education and many friends but also experiences that will never be forgotten.

"My most memorable experience was.... When I had the pleasure of singing a solo in our recent Christmas concert. Bruce Stoessner.

When I was in Mr. Hien's French class. Greg Burnett.

The time Joe and I were sitting on the Physics room table and Mrs. Pflingsten walked in and told us we should know better than to sit on the tables! Jackie Frait.

The Senior Choir picnic of 1967 - for reasons I'd rather not say! Diane Symonds.

When I sang the choral Benediction for the Choir concert and two assemblies. Dave Novotny.

Being carried into the boy's john by Joe and Rick. Mary Kawka

Teddy Bear. Judy Hammermiller.

The Hindu Art of Making Love. 12A's 5* Lunch"

Night School Starts Jan. 21

Registration for night school classes at Rhodes will take place on Tuesday, January 21, from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. at Rhodes. Enrollment is open to anyone 16 years of age and over. Classes will begin on Tuesday, January 28.

The full fee will be due at the time of registration. Most courses cost $10 for Cleveland residents and $20 for non-Cleveland residents and will meet for 15 weeks for 3 hours each Tuesday evening.

The courses offered fit under the headings of Commercial, Home Economics, and "general".

A Driver Education Practive course which will consist of 1 1/2 hour classes each week for 12 weeks is offered for $45.

A registration of at least 15 people is needed to establish class. Registration is necessary to avoid cancelling a class. Unlisted courses will be provided if enough people request them and if a teacher can be found. For further information on night school classes, call 351-6285.

admission to noon movies two coach ballots. Students should contact relatives and neighbors as to publication dates of appearing ballots.

Wouldn't it serve as a double treat for Andy Moran if his team could win the West Senate crown, along with being proclaimed the most enthusiastically supported basketball coach in the area?

Let's make Rhodes, not West Tech, number one!

We're No. 1

Rhodes students would like to say they have the best basketball team in the city. So would John Adam, East High, and West Tech.

But there is one statistic Rhodes students can be proud of. According to the Cleveland Press, Rhodes has the lowest dropout rate in the city. The school had 106 of its 1968 pupils dropout or 6.2 per cent. The city-wide average was 12.4 per cent.

This is one category Rhodes has the city beat in. In a few weeks, maybe we can boast the best basketball team in the city.

The Roving Pollster

New Styles Outmode Code

Concerning the subject of dress at Rhodes, both students and faculty members were asked the following question: "What do you think of the present school dress code?" resulting in these replies:

- "I like it." GEORGE KYSIL, 12A.
- "It is reasonable compared to others," SUE LEAR, 10B.
- "It is broad enough to be adequate. It DOES need some revision, but the kids don't come up with ideas when asked." MISS HINE.
- "The dress code should change with the styles." JANICE DICKENS and NANCY RADER, 12B's.
- "Culottes should be allowed, because they look nicer when girls sit down." MARCIA KONOPINSKI, 10B.
- "The dress code should be revised so that boys can wear turtlenecks without sweaters." DAN GALLAGHER, 11B.

By
RON PARASKA

ALUMNI NEWS .... Stanley Siekiewicz June '68 was awarded for an outstanding grade average at the Sheppard Air Force base....Norm Tulodzrecki June '67 won a Scholarship to study in France....Jim Matlack June '66 received two purple hearts and one silver star while serving in Vietnam....Father Martin Amos '59 is now at the Saint James Parish...Brian Roggenburk June '68 has made the varsity basketball team at Adelbert...William Gedeon Jan. '63 made the Dean's list at the University of Akron.

WEDDING BELLS AND RICE.....for Mike Kott '66 and Charlene Farson '68 who were married December 21.

AN APOLOGY ..... to Sue Corbin, 12A whose name was eliminated from the last issue as a piano accompanist for the senior choir and the Girls' Glee Club....to Norman Lidrbach driving teacher whose name was eliminated in the last issue from the woodshop feature.

CONGRATS.....to Debra Mager 12B who made all-state Orchestra...to yours truly who appeared in WVIZ's Teenage Press Conference on January 14 in a panel discussion on narcotics....to Louis Gangale, Debra Mager, Dale Heinz, Pete Fedynsky, Stan Pollack, 12B's and Gayle Galan, Chris Feader, Melinda Reed, and Claudia Woidke, 11B's who have been chosen for the eighteenth annual North Eastern Regional Orchestra....Paul Schweikert, 12B, who was named center in the Call-Post All Star Team....to Miss Gloria Geitz the new Physics teacher.

STRANGER THEN FACT.....Jim Kyle and Leanne Geary, 12B's, climbed to the very top of the Terminal Tower and preceded to hang out a window. (wow, couldn't get much higher than that!)....Chuck Rudar and Dave Wagner, 12B's are gardeners for Mr. Bernard Ward, science teacher.

ALUMNI PLUS....Les Horvath '54 is one of eighteen nominees to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

- "It's OK, why?" JIM SLATINSKY, 12B.
- "I think it is democratic and tolerant." MR. TEMPLIN, HISTORY TEACHER.
- "Boys should be allowed to wear sideburns." GEORGE PETRANKO, 11B.
- "If you don't know how to dress by the time you are in high school, no one set of rules is going to teach you how." DONNA CURRAN, 11A.
- "A good dress code projects the image of Rhodes High School." MRS. SEIDEL, ENGLISH TEACHER.
- "Phooey-baloney." MARY BERENDSON, 11B.
- "Rhodes needs a dress code. The students really appreciate a guideline for dress." MISS WHALEN, Counselor.
- "It should be enforced for all, not just some." JUDY MATYI, 12B.

Rhodes Review

Published bi-weekly during the school year by the classes in journalism at James Ford Rhodes High School, 5100 Biddulph Avenue, Cleveland 9, Ohio. FLorida 1-6285.

ALL-AMERICAN
National Scholastic Press Association
1965 NOSPDA Donaghy Trophy
BEST NEWSPAPER AWARD

EDITOR ..... HARRY MARANTIDES
PAGE ONE CO-EDITORS .. PAT BOHNER,
ROGER PRAKAP
PAGE TWO EDITOR ... CLAYDIA MYLES
PAGE THREE EDITOR MONICA MELUCH
PAGE FOUR EDITOR ..... MIKE MAYO
CIRCULATION MANAGER ..... KATHY
OCKUNZZI
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS ..... BRUCE
BREAM, BRUCE DWYNN
ART CO-ORDINATOR ..... CHARLES
FALCONE
TYPIST ..... JUNE GUZIK
STAFF: Laura Arosen, Sue Arpajian, Douglas Berg, Cheri Carros, Mary Charvat, Debbie Colvin, Neil Fedio, Louis Jannazo, Ken Jaworski, Agnes Kwitkovski, Patty Marriott, Kathy McWilliams, Judy Nicholas, Ron Paraska, Pat Post, Denise Salvatore, Bill Sperry, George Spirhangh, Rita Vanek, Bettie Baumholtz, Janet Klemenc, Lois McCane, Marilyn Sichau, Alice Johnson.
ADVISOR ..... PETER P. TURELLA
PRINCIPAL ..... JOHN J. STILLINGER
ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS .... MARJORIE
HINE, MICHAEL MASSA

Wigs BY CORINNE BENNETT False Hair Used By Men

The wearing of wigs is of great antiquity, and Egyptian mummies have been found so adorned. In Greece, wigs were used by men and women. A reference in Kenaphon to the false hair worn by Cyrus's grandfather "as is customary among the Medes," and also a story in Aristotle, would suggest that wigs were introduced from Persia and were in use in Asia Minor.

In Rome wigs came into use certainly in the early days of the empire. They were also known to the Carthaginians. Polylius says that Hannibal used wigs as a means of disguise. The fashionable ladies of Rome were enthusiastic wearers of false hair, and we learn from Ovid and Martial that the golden hair imported from Germany was most favored. The chief names for wigs were golerus, golericulum, carymbium, capillamentum, and corymbium.

In the United States, fancy or plain, wigs were all the rage. Following European trends, every fashionable colonist wore one. Even some slaves had wigs. The finer ones were quite expensive, and offers of rewards for the return of stolen wigs were common. Early wigs were curly and long, but the knotted wig and the bag wig harmonized with neater fashions.

It was by slow degrees that doctors, soldiers, and clergymen gave up the custom of wearing wigs. In the church it survived longest among the bishops. Wigs are now worn as part of official costum only in Great Britain.

In Advanced Experiment

Scientific Rhodians Are "Guinea Pigs"

BY HARRY MARANTIDES

Fifty science students here are taking part in the most advanced science experiment being conducted anywhere in the world, according to Dr. V. L. Parsigian, professor at Rensselaer Polytechnical Institute, and a recent visitor to Rhodes.

These students of Mr. Bernard Ward's and Mr. Alfred Pompeani's advanced science course are "guinea pigs," said Parsigian, in a course developed at RPI for college freshmen.

The course is constructed to find a solution for a universal problem. That problem, according to the professor, is to teach science in a way to make science more understandable, more attractive, and more relevant for anyone.

"It is a shame to live in an age dominated by science," emphasized Parsigian, "in which so many people are totally ignorant of any such knowledge. This negative attitude has developed from present teaching methods which have to be changed in order to solve the problem."

Dr. Parsigian was here recently, questioning advanced science students in an effort to obtain suggestions for modifying his revolutionary course. The science text used by these students was written a year ago by Dr. Parsigian.

"Projects are being conducted in every country," said Parsigian, "to help solve this problem of teaching science in a meaningful manner." Dr. Parsigian attended an international congress recently at Varna, Bulgaria. The topic was the teaching of integrated science.

"Students must be taught not to compartmentalize their education," warned Parsigian. "All aspects of a person's education must be brought together. Students must see that history and science are related, not just separate entities."

Rensselaer freshmen saw an application of science to their worlds, said Parsigian, when they completed system analysis. Topics ranged from LSD as a control system to how a bill becomes a law.

"Someone even used the length of girls' skirts as a system to be analyzed," chuckled Parsigian.

Professor V.L. Parsigian listens intently to Mr. Bernard Ward's Advanced Science class for suggestions on his revolutionary course.

Thirty Rhodians Picked For NHS

Thirty students were inducted into the National Honor Society on Tuesday, December 17.

Seniors achieving this honor were 12A's Richard Kalynchuk, Charles Orgrin, Eugene Schmid; 12B's Ron Amrich, Bruce Bream, Melanie Clements, Nicholas De Bow, Bruce Dwyann, Helen Eimer, Marilyn Girosky, Lynn Kollai, Nancy Kovacs, Laura Lowe, Ruth Marquardt, Gerald Molitoris, John Neale, Tim Opatrny, Clarisse Persanyi, John Rakowsky, Ruth Schreckengost, Kristie Small, Donald Sparks, Doris Vollmar, and David Wagner. Concluding the list of inductees are 11A's Bettie Baumholtz, Gary Granke, John Kregenow, Janet Klemenc, Kathy McWilliams, and Christopher Roeseemann.

Carl B. Stokes, Mayor of Cleveland, joins the 36 members of the Rhodes Review Staff in cheering our team to Victory.

Students Await Improvements

BY DENISE SALVATORE

Although most Rhodes students feel that the honor study halls, their chairmen, and secretaries need improvement, not one who was interviewed wanted to do away with them. Each one felt that honor study halls are a necessary part of a student's self-discipline.

"The 600 new 10B's have learned the rules of honor study halls quite well," states Joe Simeone, president of honor study halls. According to statistics, the 10B's have had the least number of ejections.

Many students feel that ejection without a warning slip is very unfair. Favoritism, they feel, is very common among chairmen.

Various student views were: "The chairmen give warning and ejection slips out much too often. They also talk too much," contributed Ray Duffy, 10A.

Susan Pekrul, 10A, states, "I'm for kicking teachers out of honor study halls because they have been frequently supervising." On the other hand, another student comments, "Honor study halls make a student more responsible; therefore, he is more mature."

According to Mrs. Frances Morris, assistant advisor of honor study halls, next semester will run much smoother. She added that there is always a small minority who will not conform.

Czarnota Elected Prexy Of Juniors

For the first time at Rhodes High an 11B class election was held.

On Tuesday, December 17, the class elected Craig Czarnota, president; Paula Hrusovsky, vice president; Pam Rice, secretary; and Steve Petranko, treasurer.

"Not as many juniors voted as expected," states Miss Sonia Sasarak, Student Council advisor, "due to the fact that it's our first time."

ORTLI MUSIC
EVERYTHING IN MUSIC
Private lessons $2.50
FL 1-1465

Chairmen, Committee — Sound Off On — Student-Run Cafeteria

Has the student-run cafeteria been a success this semester? This question not only is asked by teachers but by students themselves.

When questioned Paul Georgiadis, 12B Chairman 5th period committee, "The upkeep of the student run cafeteria must be a total school effort. Every individual must adhere to its rules or the outcome of such a privilege will be a complete failure."

Ruth Marquardt, 12B chairman 4th period feels that something needs to be done to awaken students to the responsibilities of being in this type of Cafeteria."

According to rules given to homeroom teachers, students are asked to observe the following rules:

1. Enter the cafeteria by way of the south door and leave by way of the north (back) door.
2. Enter lunch lines single file through the entrances.
3. Do not throw anything in the cafeteria.
4. Do not eat in the Gab Room and do not move the chairs in the Gab Room. All students in the Gab Room should be seated until the bell rings.
5. All students in the cafeteria should remain seated until the bell rings.
6. Three minutes before the bell rings clean up the table and if need be, the floor area around you.
7. When the final bell rings all tables should be clean.
8. No pledging should take place in the cafeteria. This is not the time or place for it.

Bob Boester, 12B Chairman last semester, sums it up with, "All of the students must realize the responsibility rests with them. The Cafeteria Committee was not created to clean up the mess other students have made. It was started to give students authority to govern themselves, and free teachers for classroom assignments."

GET ACTIVE WITH THE ADULT BOOSTERS CLUB OF RHODES
We're the best
Contact — LAVERNE PRIZNER,
Membership Chairman — 741-9538

SAVE MONEY ON YOUR HIGH SCHOOL CLASS RING

ANY YEAR ANY COLOR
Budget Terms Available
Harburger's
211 EUCLID AVE. Jewelers MA 1-1814

SAUER'S FUNERAL HOMES
INCORPORATED
4801 Memphis Avenue 351-4625
Ample Parking at Both Locations
5303 Storer Avenue 631-1563

Flyers Last Mat Opponents

BY LOU JANNAZO

Revenge will provide extra drive as the Ram matmen meet Marshall on the Lawyer mats tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. and when they travel to the new south High School for a 4 p.m. match against the Flyers. Last season the Ram wrestlers dropped decisions to both these teams.

"They are tough matches," said Coach Al Pompeani. "The boys will do their best to win."

On January 7, West Tech downed the Ram grapplers 27-14. Tom Hadgis, 154 wt. class recorded the lone Ram pin. Mike Fait, 120; Bob Bindernagle, 127; and Bill Syvuk, 133; added decision victories. The junior varsity also lost 26-16.

On December 28 the Ram grapplers participated with seven other schools in the Berea to ornaments.

Mike Fait reigned as champion in the 120 wt. class at the tournaments. Bill Syvuk, 133 wt. class and Tom Hadgis 154 wt. class were runners-up in their respective divisions. Bob Bindernagle, who injured his arm in a quarter final match, finished fourth in the 127

The results of the January 14 Max Hayes meet were not available at presstime.

Mayo Says:

Rams Will Win It

By MIKE MAYO, SPORTS EDITOR

A big question around Rhodes this week has been, "What if Rhodes and West Tech tie for first place in the Senate?" It should be a big question because if Rhodes loses one and Tech wins all the rest, the two schools will have identical records.

According to coach Moran the result will be a playoff between the two schools at some neutral court, probably Ignatius or South.

Thanks to the Tech loss to Marshall, followed by a loss by Marshall to Max Hayes the next night, combined with two Ram wins last week, the Rams now breathe a little easier. Last week both Ignatius and Holy Name fell victim to the Ram attack, 59-40, and 73-55 respectively. Rhodes now occupies first place with a 6-1 Senate record. Tech is a close second with 5-2, and Marshall third with 4-3.

As I see it, in games to come, the Rams face no big threat in either Padua (a non-league game,) or Lincoln this weekend. At Marshall, though, when seniors Ken Vana and George Kysil play in a Rhodes' uniform for the last time, the Rams will have to show every bit of talent they possess to beat the Lawyers. If you will recall, the Rams beat Marshall at Rhodes by only two points.

The following week, the Rams hope to gain another victory with Holy Name, but on Feb. 1st, however, the Rams meet Tech led by high-scoring 6-7 Don Cooper. The last Tech game showed that this big man can be made pretty ineffective when matched with a good center such as John Neale. The loss of Jerry Wujcik, Tech's leading scorer, will undoubtedly hurt the Warriors. I believe the only reason we lost to Tech is because Jim Slatinsky was hurt.

The Rams will go against Tech without Vana, who is considered by many as the best playmaker and ball handler in the Senate, and Kysil, who is the best defensive agent the Senate claims.

Can Slat fill the big shoes of Vana? Slat has speed, a good shot and dribbling ability, and I think he'll lead Rhodes past the Warriors. Another big question is who will replace Slatinsky when he replaces Vana? Joe Becker? Fred Guger? Paul Zajac? I'd hate to have to make the decision.

Another big factor in the Rams championship hopes is Marty Blank, who fouled out on what looked like a ref's questionable decision to me against Tech. Marty will have to continue his rebounding and shooting to keep Rhodes number one. By the way, I believe the Rams will go all the way. John Ofcar will also have to continue looking great.

The Rams have not lost a home game this year. In fact, they did not lose one at home last year. In fact, they have won 14 straight at home.

The Rhodes record, according to Mr. Moran, who I think is untouchable in cage know-how, is 15 home games in a row, set in '64. A win over Tech can tie that record. Maybe next year, it will be broken.

Kysil And Vana

11' 11" Of Ram Talent

BY PAT MARIOTT

"I've always wanted to play first string basketball at Rhodes and to play at the Arena," says 12A departing guard, George Kysil.

George first became interested in basketball in fourth grade when his brother Anton Kysil played basketball in '64 with Ram star Billy Hann.

George also played basketball for Harper and Charles Mooney.

"The game that thrilled me the most was the West Tech home game in '63 when Rhodes beat them and went into first place."

"He has been a fine boy to work with for three years," said Coach Andy Moran. George has played varsity basketball for three years.

"If it wasn't for Estabrook I wouldn't be playing first string," says Kysil. George plays at Estabrook each night.

"I'd like to see Rhodes win at the Arena this year so we would be considered as good as the '63-'64 team," says George.

BY KEN JAWORSKI

It is said that fate works in many mysterious ways, and so it is true in the case of Ken Vana, 12A departing co-captain and playmaker of the Rhodes basketball team.

If Ken had not moved into the Rhodes district, he would have gone to West Tech. In fact during junior high, Vana was teamed with Jerry Wujick, an outstanding player for West Tech this year.

A force working on Ken's interest in basketball was former Ram, Bill Hann.

"I was just fascinated by him and strove to play that way," said Vana.

Thus far this year Ken is second on the team in foul shooting with 70 per cent. He also is second in scoring with 110 points as of presstime.

"Ken is as good as any playmaker in the city" states Mr. Moran, "and we're going to hate to see him go." Vana will put the blue and white on for the last time against Marshall on Jan. 24.

J.V. Cagers Face Padua

After two straight defeats, the Rams junior hoopsters will attempt to get back in victory row as they battle Padua tomorrow at 7 p.m., in Padua's gym.

The Rams record was lowered to 3-5 on Jan. 11th, after a defeat at the hands of Holy Name, 53-41. High scorer was 6-1 Marty Polis, with 13 points.

Jim McGuire's jump shot sent the Max Hayes game into an overtime period. The Rams won 71-67. Polis was again high point man with 23.

The day before was somewhat disappointing as the Rams were destroyed by West Tech 60-41. Again Polis was high with 10.

Dec. 14th was one of the bright spots on the Rams schedule - a 64-47 victory over West High. It was Polis's best game with 24 points.

It was a neck to neck battle on Dec. 14th but the Rams just couldn't find the basket and lost to Lincoln 48-44. It was a typical night for Polis who led with 12.

Graduating Seniors will vacate six lettermen positions on the Rhodes varsity sports scene. Pictured left to right are Bill Larkin, Track and Cross Country; Doug Lehnhardt, Track; George Kysil, Basketball; Greg Wells, Basketball; Ken Vana, Basketball; and Gary Schulte, Cross Country.
*****

In the annual Senior-Faculty Basketball game, the Faculty showed who was superior winning 40-37. In the fourth quarter, Greg Wells, 6-5 senior, suffered a broken right ankle.

Just for one year let's try a little kindness and love.

WHY OVERPAY? SCHOOL SPECIAL!
RHODES CLASS RINGS
1 WEEK DELIVERY
Custom-crafted Gold Rings $18.50 girls
With Imported Stones $19.50 boys

HARRIS JEWELRY CO.
711 Schafeld Bldg. E. 9th & Euclid

Connie's Pizza

1618 SPRING ROAD
(AT BROADALE)

749-1141

C & H

AUTO SERVICE

4677 State Road

749-6581

General Auto Repair
Transmission • Brake

SAUER'S FUNERAL HOMES

INCORPORATED

4801 Memphis Avenue
351-4625

Ample Parking
at Both Locations

5303 Storer Avenue
631-1563

CLASS RING SAMPLES

PECK JEWELRY. CO.

DIAMONDS • WATCHES

4234 PEARL ROAD (Opp. Deaconess Hospital)
Cleveland, Ohio 44109